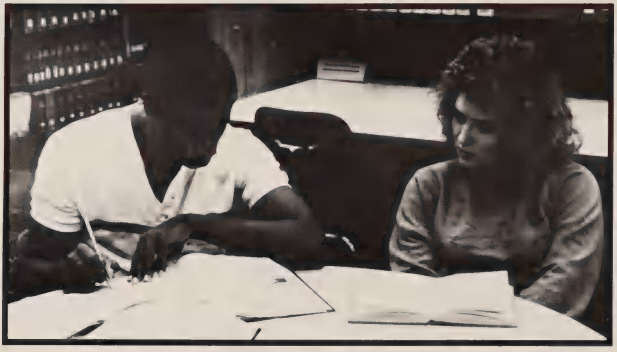
DIVESTMENT:

A moral or economic issue?

Students, approximately 100, took time to express their beliefs and stand for their values at a peaceful demonstration for divestment. Professor Rivage-Suel spoke on the issue. He and the students still await action on the part of the trustees.

The "yuppie" generation we live in has been accused of being a conservative economic-minded people. We are not supposed to try to save the world; we are cursed with apathy. Yet for some reason "We are the World" and on Graudation Day we held "Hands across America."

We are often success oriented, but some of us are considering success in terms of values that do not deny humanity. It keeps us busy and sometimes the weight of it makes us apathetic. Little problems make it easier to forget, deny or ignore the bigger ones. This academic year we had the realities of hunger, terrorism, and nuclear accidents made apparent. We have seen our space shuttle disappear before our eyes. We have also seen a pulling together to meet the needs of man. This generation has been challenged to face some tough problems. If, when, and how we face them remains to be seen, and just maybe the demonstration here at Berea was a statement that when our convictions are strong we will act and we will face the challenge.



"How many pages?!?"

Candids

We were watching you.

We have come from different places, different cultures and different families. We are each to be proud of our heritage. We are all unique, and we are often drawn together in our uniqueness to be one humanity. We are all of one blood; that's something to consider. Sharing our heritage and our culture is a beautiful way of showing we believe what we say.

CHIMES

Everyone,

This has been an interesting year. I've worked with Mary White, Elizabeth Raney, Dan Sides, Kelly Johnson, Marisa Christman, Kippeur Harder, and Susan Steblein. We learned a lot, set some goals and had some fun. We met some of the goals and some we didn't. I hope you can notice the changes without me telling them to you. I'm grateful for your support. I know that without your input we would have a stagnant book. I appreciated all your comments. We did consider them.

I would like to thank Joel Carter, he is a super volunteer photographer, Clary Speilberger, Ann Cathers, and everyone who helped or gave their feedback. This is my last year with the yearbook, and because of you I have some wonderful memories.

Finally, I'd like to thank Ed Fitzgerald for being a great supervisor and Mike Rivard for being an awesome representative.

Have a great year.

Sharon

P.S. Thanks Elizabeth for all the volunteer work also.
